~~RUSTY~~

~~(to Beaver)~~

~~I can't take you anywhere.~~

~~Beaver hugs Rusty, as the Clerk starts ringing it all up.~~

~~CLERK~~

~~By the way, congratulations to you both.~~

~~THE BEAVER~~

~~(oblivious)~~

~~Thank you.~~

~~Before Rusty can object, the Clerk hands him the lavalier. Rusty stares down at it, excited to give it to Jordan...~~

INT. PARTY DOWN CATERING - DAY (2)

~~Evan sits in the tiny lobby of the catering office, filling out an application for employment. Cappie sits next to him, offering advice.~~

~~CAPPIE~~

~~Okay, so the part where it says 'name' is where your name goes--~~

~~EVAN~~

~~I think I got it.~~

~~CAPPIE~~

~~Sorry, I just assumed you'd never filled one of these out before.~~

~~As Evan fills out his application, a young woman, LANA, enters. She's beautiful, but guarded. A late-bloomer who doesn't understand her own appeal. She's smart, witty, and somewhat abrasive. And Cappie's smitten. They exchange a look as she passes, he leans over to Evan..~~

~~Just so we're clear... Dibs.~~

~~Huh? Cappie gets up and leaves before Evan can look up.~~

~~AT THE RECEPTION DESK--~~

~~Lana approaches, addressing the RECEPTIONIST.~~

LANA

Hey, Ron said you have my check?

The Receptionist nods, leaving to get it -- as Cappie sidles up next to her, nodding hello like he's at a bar.

CAPPIE

Hey. Picking up your check, huh?

She turns and glares at him.

LANA

Yeah. Then my kids. From school. I have three, they're total brats.

CAPPIE

Are you just saying that so I'll leave?

LANA

If I say 'no', would you leave?

CAPPIE

No. I love kids. I practically still am one. I'm Cappie.

She fights the urge to smile -- when the Receptionist arrives with her check, handing it over.

RECEPTIONIST (O.S.)

Here you go, Lana.

LANA

Thanks. See you next week.

She turns and leaves, avoiding eye contact with Cappie.

CAPPIE

End
Say hi to the kids for me, Lana.

She doesn't acknowledge him... but at the door, she glances back, giving him hope. He turns to the Receptionist.

~~CAPPIE (CONT'D)~~

~~Any chance you're looking to hire two cater waiters?~~

~~INT. ZBZ HOUSE - DINING ROOM - NIGHT (2)~~

~~Casey stands in front of the pledges (Abby and Jordan included).~~

~~CASEY~~

~~Okay, so we need to get to work on our costumes for the Lambda Sig calendar.~~
