INT. HOSPITAL - DAY

Altman's eyes follow Owen through the ER. Robbins approaches.

ROBBINS

Teddy, hey, I have an old patient up in Oncology and I know you're really busy with surgeries and starting at Owen Hunt, but...

ALTMAN

What?

ROBBINS

I've tried to ignore it, the staring, but ever since Christmas with the guitar and singing and stolen looks, well, I noticed it and I can't, well, un-notice it. It's just, I kind've, I like to fix things. People. I like to fix people.

ALTMAN

Oh, no, no. Dr. Hunt and I, we...

ROBBINS

Oh, don't. Cause then you're just lying, and that's no good. The point is you're staring and you're sad and I think you need friends that aren't Owen, and that's where I come in with the fixing. You're going to be friends with me.

ALTMAN

I am?

ROBBINS

Mm-hmm, yeah. I'm an awesome friend. So, tonight you'll come out with Callie and me. Girls' night. Oh, ooh, maybe Bailey will come, too.

ALTMAN

Huh.

ROBBINS

Say yes to girls night.

ALTMAN

Yes to girls' night.

ROBBINS

Yay!

ALTMAN

Oh, yay.

ROBBINS

Problem solved. Now for my patient,
Elliot Meyer, he needs a lung transplant.
